The VIOM provides opportunities for synergy and collaboration among basic scientists, clinicians, and public health professionals at Vanderbilt and its community partners, and provides a base of expertise for public (community) education, policy development and advocacy.

Kelly L. Haws, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Marketing
Owen Graduate School of Management
Vanderbilt University

Vice-Virtue Bundles

12:00pm—Friday, September 11, 2015
206 Preston Research Building

Research Interests: Self-control, self-control strategies, food decision making, obesity prevention, optimal consumption, measurement issues and behavioral pricing.

Hosted by Roger Cone, Ph.D.

Presented by the Vanderbilt School of Medicine, Vanderbilt Institute for Obesity and Metabolism. Vanderbilt School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians. Vanderbilt School of Medicine designates this educational activity for a maximum of 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

The VIOM is a program of the Diabetes Research Training Center and the Department of Molecular Physiology & Biophysics.