

To users of the Vanderbilt Genome Editing Resource (VGER),

We are pleased to announce that we have been approved to implement Phase 1 of Vanderbilt's Research Ramp-Up Plan. This means that we are now accepting new mouse genome editing projects, and will resume performing procedures beginning the week of May 26th.

During Phase 1 of the ramp-up, either email or virtual meeting applications such as ZOOM or Skype are required for all communications with VGER staff. Appointments to collect reagents can be scheduled upon request.

We look forward to working with you again!

Sincerely,

Mark A. Magnuson
