Dr. Unanue will discuss the communication between beta cells and the immune system in physiological settings and during the initial stages of autoimmune diabetes, the latter in the NOD mouse. Dr. Unanue will focus on the nature of the immunogenic antigens, the innate cells that participate by presenting the antigens and the specificity of the dominant T cells.