

Training and Walk-Up Instrument Use

Most of the HTS instruments are available for walk-up use. Instruments can be reserved online for as little as 15 minutes at a time, and instruments can be accessed 24 hours a day, seven days a week. A short training for every HTS instrument and automation is required for use and for reserving instrument time. Training includes understanding the capabilities of the instrument, the limitations, instrument functions and safety, data capture, analysis, access, and storage, as well as HTS facility policies and procedures for instrument access and use. Training time will be charged to the investigator's account and generally lasts between 30-60 minutes, depending on the equipment being used. Following training access to the HTS facility and instrument reservation and usage will be granted. Our instruments can be found here.
